

Job announcement

The Astrophysics Department at the Institute of Theoretical Physics and Astrophysics of the Christian-Albrechts University of Kiel, Germany invites applications for a in the research field of Star and Planet Formation. The position is available as of 01.09.2019 for a period of 3 years. The salary for the position is based on the German federal public service scale (E 13 TV-L). The regular weekly working hours amount to 50 % of a full time position (currently 19,35 hours).

The position is to work in the Research Unit FOR 2285 “Debris Disks in Planetary Systems”, established by the German Research Foundation (DFG). The successful candidate will join the “Star and Planet formation” group at the ITAP and will work for the Research Unit’s project “Observational appearance of debris disks”. The candidate will benefit from close collaboration with other projects of the Research Unit running in Kiel, Braunschweig, and Jena.

Applicants should hold the equivalent of a MSc or Diploma degree in physics or astrophysics and ideally should have gained first experience with astronomical research, either in the field of numerical simulations or astronomical observations.

The University strongly encourages women with appropriate qualifications to apply for the position. Women with equivalent qualifications, competence and expertise will be given preference. We also support the application of people with a foreign background.

The University also supports the employment of disabled persons. Persons with disabilities will, with appropriate qualification and aptitudes, be employed preferentially.

Interested candidates are invited to send their application including their curriculum vitae and copies of University degrees/records before August 2, 2019 to
