

Second call of UPSaclay-STAR- ϕ Postdoctoral Programme - Call closes July 15th, 2026!

The Graduate School of Physics at Université Paris-Saclay (France) is launching the second call of its postdoctoral fellowship programme: UPSaclay-STAR- ϕ , supported by the EU Marie Skłodowska-Curie COFUND action.

Through this call, the programme will recruit up to 22 international postdoctoral researchers over two calls, for 24-month research projects in one of the 40 laboratories of the Graduate School, at the SOLEIL synchrotron, or at the French National Metrology Lab (LNE). This includes 4 astrophysics laboratories: the Department of Astrophysics (DAp) of CEA Paris-Saclay, the Institut d'Astrophysique Spatiale (IAS), the Laboratoire Atmosphères et Observations Spatiales (LATMOS) and the Laboratoire de Physique des Plasmas (LPP).

Application deadline: July 1st, 2026

Expected start of fellowships: Early 2027 (flexible)

Applicants will propose their own research project aligned with the School's wide-ranging fields— from fundamental to applied physics.
